

So, why choose a Fendt?

"The resale value has always been exceptional."

Testimonial - Fendt

Bill Legge, of A L Legge & Son Ltd, has owned Fendt tractors for 30 years, with 29 tractors covering that time span. At the time of writing, they work 10 Fendt tractors.

Bill explains: "We have always been happy with the build quality of the Fendt product and the back-up we have received from Fendt.

The resale value has always been exceptional, which helps offset the higher than average new cost.

"Fendt have always led the development of new ideas in agricultural engineering, but only released products when they have been proven - the Vario transmission is typical of this progression. We have enjoyed the benefits for 12 years while other makes are still trying to catch up."

Since TNS took over the sales and service of Fendt in 2000 Jim Sculthorpe, based at Littleport, has been the main contact for A L Legge & Son. Bill adds: "Jim's enthusiasm and knowledge for Fendt far exceeds the title of 'sales', he is always on hand to help and offer guidance.

"Likewise, Kevin Palmer, our Fendt technician at Littleport, is passionate about the product and has built up vast knowledge of the tractors. He treats them as his own.

"Since the opening of the Littleport branch, we have had a wider workforce to call on and the pooling of knowledge and experience being brought together has greatly improved the service we receive."

As Bill points out, he once knew every Fendt and its driver, but not any more - "The vast numbers of Fendt tractors now out and about on farms in the fens shows how popular they have become."
