Product Features

Logmaster Heavy Duty Saw Horse

Using a chainsaw is hazardous, and even the most experienced operator can become careless and oblivious to the dangers – especially with a repetitive job like cutting logs.

Prolonged periods of using a heavy chainsaw can also produce backache and increase the likelihood of short cuts taken, so causing accidents. The Logmaster can overcome these problems, and is probably the safest saw horse available.

The all-welded thick plated steel construction weighing 17kg provides the ultimate stable and strong workbench.
